DAILY GREETING There are two factors which work against prosperity. One is idle men and the other is idle capital. To my mind, one is just as mischievous as the other, and just as much mischief will be produced by idle money as by idle labor. We must create conditions where both can be used properly and fairly. What we want is the right of the strong to help the weak in the use of money and the employment of labor and the betterment of transportation conditions the country over.—E. H. Harriman.

CITY BOND ELECTION

It is only a few days now before the voters of the city will pass on the proposition of voting bonds for $110,000 for a city hall, and up to the present time very little seems to have been done in the way of a campaign for or against the bonds. In fact, you hear very little talk on the proposition either one way or the other. Apparently there is very little opposition to the bonds, but it should not be taken for granted that they will be carried. It requires a two-thirds majority to vote bonds, and those who are in favor of this much-needed public improvement should not allow themselves to be caught napping. If they do, a little quiet opposition to the bonds might defeat them.

While Riverside is recognized as one of the most enterprising cities in Southern California, we have gotten along through all the years of our municipal history without any city hall. Our public library is housed in a beautiful building, and the county has provided a court house that is conceded to be one of the most artistic and convenient buildings of its class in the country. But, the city offices are still located in rented quarters that with the growth of the city have become cramped and inadequate. The valuable maps and records that the city has been accumulating through all the years of its history are exposed to fire. And public business is transacted with constant inconvenience and danger. What is more, the lease on the present city quarters will soon expire and it will not be renewed except at such a figure as makes it much cheaper for the city to build a home of its own. The city has acquired a lot that is well located for city purposes. On one corner opposite the new federal building will be erected. On another corner stands the Carnegie library. And on the third corner the Glenwood is located. The city needs a municipal building and it has chosen a suitable and satisfactory location for it.

It is now up to the voters to say whether they will approve the bond issue and thus provide the funds needed for the building. The bonds run for such a period that the increase in taxation, in order to meet principal and interest, will be hardly appreciable. As we have said before, we know of no good reason why the bonds should not be voted, and we hope to see them carried by a majority that will not only be sufficient but overwhelming.

EXAMINER'S GOOD WORK

Most of the philanthropy that is carried on by the Hearst papers is conducted with much beating of drums and sounding of cymbals in order to advertise Mr. Hearst and his publications. The flamboyant display of pharisaical pride and selfish interest is so obvious as to be disgusting, even though the object of the charity is a worthy one. But having said this, we feel like making an exception in the case of the Los Angeles Examiner bonds campaign. Many of our readers take the Los Angeles Times, and they would not know from that paper that any bond sale campaign was on. Naturally the Times would not care to advertise the Examiner, but there is an added reason for the silence of that paper, for it is largely responsible for the fact that these bonds were not sold in the Large Shipments of Rock from Glenavon Quarry to San Pedro—Improvement Association Meets—Building Notes and Personal News.

[Daily Press Special News Service] GLENAVON, Sept. 29.—The California Construction Company, which for over three years has operated two of the quarries belonging to the Riverside Granite Company, has discontinued work, owing to the expiration of their lease. The company has for the past ten years been engaged in building the government breakwater at San Pedro, and although a number of other quarries in Southern California have been drawn upon for rock, several thousand carloads have been taken from Glenavon alone. The departure of the California Construction Company leaves the Riverside Granite Company in full possession of their quarries and they are making active preparations to commence on their contract with the San Pedro Reclamation Company, which calls for 6000 carloads of rock. Approximately 10,000 cars of rock have been shipped from these quarries in the past three and a half years.

Profitable Meeting There was a good attendance at the meeting of the Glenavon Improvement Association Friday evening and five new members were enrolled. New names for several of the streets were voted upon and a petition concerning the proposed changes will be presented to the supervisors. Coffee and cake were served during an intermission and the meeting both in its business and social aspects, was profitable and enjoyable.

Building Notes A number of improvements are in progress this week. R. H. Spencer is building an addition to his house, raising the present structure. The work is in charge of J. H. McMullen. Wm. Correll is also enlarging his house, John McMullen having the contract.

Ora Brokamp is attending school in Glenavon and residing with Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hill. Mrs. Hill has also had as a guest the past week her brother, J. H. McMullen of Riverside. Burdette Nelligan is in the Ontario high school, while the Misses Helen and Elsie Salling and Robert Spencer are attending the Riverside business college.

WEST RIVERSIDE

[Daily Press Special News Service] WEST RIVERSIDE, Sept. 27.—Miss Mabel Lawrence of East Riverside and a neighbor, Mrs. Davis, were driving in West Riverside today, when the horse suddenly became frightened and bolted, turning so quickly that the carriage was overturned, its occupants having a violent fall into the street. Mrs. Davis had her ankle hurt, while Miss Lawrence sustained severe injuries to her arm and hip. The horse, after kicking itself loose from the wrecked buggy, ran away, and the victims of the accident were taken to their homes in an automobile which happened to be passing.

Cattle Sold On Tuesday three carloads more of beef cattle were shipped from San Jacinto, the buyer being J. B. Norton of Compton. Mr. Norton has made a number of shipments of cattle from San Jacinto this season and is very well pleased with the quality of beef he obtains in this section. Among the local cattlemen who shipped in Tuesday's consignment were E. C. Lamb, $1500; Fred McIntyre, $500. A number of other smaller shipments were made by various parties, bringing the amount up to $3000.

Mill Work A. S. Emerson, wife and children came down from the San Jacinto Lumber & Box Company's mill Tuesday. Mrs. Emerson and children will remain in the valley for the month, visiting with Mrs. Emerson's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Blackshaw. This is Mr. Emerson's first trip to the valley since April and on their return they will lay in a winter's supply of grub and will not expect to come out until spring. Mr. Emerson reports that the company has about 700,000 feet of lumber in the mill yards at present and that teamsters are hauling it to San Jacinto at the rate of 30,000 feet a week. It is not believed that open weather will continue in the valley long enough to allow more than half this amount to be transferred to San Jacinto this year, and it may be that nearly half a million feet will be carried over until next summer.

Wedding Surprises News was received in San Jacinto Tuesday afternoon of the marriage in Los Angeles on Monday night of Hugh Goff and Miss Marion Kidder. This was a complete surprise to the popular couple's many San Jacinto friends, and is the culmination of a six years' courtship. Mr. and Mrs. Goff will return to San Jacinto after a short honeymoon and occupy a home on San Jacinto avenue.

Personal Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Emerson and children returned Monday night from a week's trip to San Diego, where Mr. Emerson was a delegate to the Interest increasing in Selection of Site for High School—Beef Shipped—San Jacinto Couple Wed in Los Angeles, Surprising Friends.

[Daily Press Special News Service] SAN JACINTO, Sept. 29.—Public interest is increasing in the selection of a building site for the new $15,000, 000 high school and champions of the various locations offered are coming forward with special inducements why the voters should select their favorite location for the building. W. W. Middlecoff, a capitalist of Los Angeles, and a large land-owner southwest of town, comes forward with the most flattering offer. He has mated a deed to the First National Bank of San Jacinto for five acres of land on Topeka street, near the Santa Fe depot. His instructions are to turn this deed over to the trustees of the San Jacinto high school district upon the selection of the five acres therein described as a building site for the high school. The property described is well worth $1000 and was first offered to the district for that sum. This offer has been given wide publicity and it is expected that voters will be influenced by it in making their selection. The city trustees have ordered sidewalks along one frontage of this lot, which would mean an expense to the district of something like $300. Aside from this sum the building site would cost the district nothing. On the Washburn tract the district already owns 21 lots and additional lots could be purchased facing Central avenue for $250 that would give the district sufficient grounds for a high school.

Methodist conference. Although the appointment have not as yet been officially declared, Rev. E. M. Sutton without question will be returned to San Jacinto, where he has just closed a successful pastorate year. J. W. Sallee left Wednesday morning for mines near Blake, on the desert in San Bernardino county, where for the past four years he has held a responsible position. R. R. Peffer, who owns a fine ranch about seven miles this side of Murietta, was in town Monday and Tuesday on business. Supervisor John Shaver left the first of the week for Santa Barbara, where he will spend his vacation. During his absence his son Francis will have charge of the San Jacinto Hardware Company's business. Miss Wolfe of Los Angeles is a guest this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Newenham.

PERRIS

Perris May Be Lighted by Electricity From Milling Company's Dynamo—Building Notes—New Well Sunk—Perris Personals of Interest.

[Daily Press Special News Service] PERRIS, Sept. 28.—The thirty-five horse power gasoline engine which operates the new barley mill of the Colton Grain and Milling Company is now in operation and will be almost continually from now on. E. J. Eisenmayer, manager of the company, has authorized the local agent, S. V. Gates, to announce that a dynamo will be installed and electricity furnished for lighting purposes if the people desire it. This could easily be done as the power for the mill, which will be in use only in the daytime would be ample to furnish all the lights required for some time to come. An electric lighting system would add greatly to the attractiveness of the town and it is hoped that our enterprising citizens will give this matter due consideration.
