HEMET CANNING CO. OFFERS GOOD PRICES

Deciduous Market This Season Promises Good Things for the Ranchers—Apricots Bringing the Highest Prices—High School Students to Give Play—Many Local Items of Interest

(Daily Press Special News Service)
HEMET, April 29.—The Hemet Canning company this week began contracting for apricots and peaches. Apricots have been bought at $40 per ton, free stone, peaches at $20 per ton and clings at $25. It is understood that these are the highest prices being paid in the state at the present time.

The deciduous fruit market promises to be better than for several years past. Because of the fact that the canneries all over the country had a light pack last year the market is entirely cleaned out and the demand is exceptionally good.

The apricot crop is especially good, and the prices being quoted all over the state are quite a little above normal, while the market for both free stone and cling peaches is considered good.

The apricot crop is light, while the peach crop is heavy, especially so in the Hemet valley. Both of the local canning plants are preparing for an unusually busy season.

Prepare School Play
"Twelfth Night," the Shakespearean play to be presented by the senior class of the high school in connection with their graduation exercises on May 12 and 13, promises to be as great a success as any amateur performance ever given in Hemet.

Resigns Pastorale
Rev. J. F. Moody's resignation as pastor of the Baptist church goes into effect May 1, and on Sunday he will preach his last sermon in Hemet. Rev. Moody has spent a quarter of a century as a Baptist pastor in Southern California, and has been in Hemet four years.

Sutherland and the Woman's Club quartet. Miss Adelaide Clarke, and Miss Mary Alston will be the accompanists of the evening.

Accept New Members
Easter services at the Methodist church were made more than usually impressive by the reception of 47 new members, and the baptism of ten young people.
