Says Indians Not a Vanishing Race. Are More Today Than Five Years Ago—California Indians Worse Off Than 25 Years Ago—Urges Patience with Problem

The auditorium at Sherman Institute was crowded with students, employees, visitors from other schools and people from Arlington and Riverside Monday evening to hear Commissioner Sells. For more than an hour and a half he entertained the audience with stories of the many wrongs the Indian has received at the hands of the white man, and the policies of the Indian office to remedy them.

"I believe that every man should possess property, but it should be according to merit. In all society there is a tendency of the strong to overcome the weak. Seventy-five per cent of the people of the United States are in sympathy with the red man. The government no longer feeds him rations, but an impatient public wants the Indian to do in 50 years what it has taken 2000 years for the white man to do.

"The whole Indian problem should turn on the word patience. Through opportunity, sympathy and leadership the Indian has progressed more rapidly since his introduction to the Caucasian civilization than any other race in the history of the world. If he progresses for the next 10 years as he has in the last three years, he will become self-supporting. He has gone from his savage; he has gone from the tepee to comfortable homes; he has gone from the buffalo hunter in 50 years to an intensive farmer; he has gone to the U. S. senate and to congress, which is unparalleled in the history of the world.

Indians Increasing "Despite reports that the Indian is a vanishing race there are more Indians today than there were five years ago. The first obligation of the 6000 employes in the service is to join in a vigilant campaign to restore his physical constitution. We must commence by saving the Indian babies. Last year we spent $300,000 for hospitals, and we expect to spend the same amount this year. This will mean a perpetuation of the race and a medium by which through human sympathy the administrator of the Indian service will come into close contact with the Indian mothers and cause them to have a mutual understanding."

It is the commissioner's intention to so administer the affairs of his office that people will not know his politics. All promotions and transfers will be based on merit alone. This bureau, above all others, should be above such a practice, he said, because the destinies of the race lie with the 6000 employes who are dealing with 250,000 human souls.

"Of the 60,000,000 acres of land belonging to them, 40,000,000 is valueless," he said. "The primary aim of the Indian boy should be to become a farmer, and the girl to become a housekeeper."

He spoke of the need of a new course of study to strengthen the vocational side of the Indians' education. A committee was appointed, which is recognized by the best educators in the United States to be the best vocational system in the world. Agriculture and home buildings, including domestic science, form the basis.

"The greatest desire of my life," he said, "is to have the respect, confidence and love of the 6000 employes in the service. No white man shall
