Allen had the team and big wagon and was loading wood. His little granddaughter was with him and was alone on the wagon when the team became frightened and started running. Naturally the old gentleman was nearly beside himself over the peril of the little girl and his inability to rescue her. Word was phoned in to Highgrove that the team was headed that way. Several men started out in an auto to intercept them. In the meantime, however, Mitchell Greene had seen the Shipped and Season's Run Is runaway and endeavored to stop them by standing in the road facing them. Seeing he was about to be run down he jumped to one side and swung onto the bridle as they passed him. He succeeded in bringing them to a standstill and held them until Mr. Allen arrived.
